Dingsbeermats.com takes the utmost care in compiling and maintaining this website. We endeavour to ensure that the information provided is as complete, accurate and up to date as possible.

Nevertheless, omissions, inaccuracies or incomplete information may occur. No rights may be derived from the information on this website unless expressly agreed otherwise in a written agreement.

This disclaimer does not affect any rights or claims arising from applicable law or contractual agreements.

2. Product Information and Specifications

Our online shop offers, among other products, plain and printed beer mats and related items.

We endeavour to present our products as accurately as possible. However, the following circumstances may result in differences between the information displayed on the website and the products actually supplied:

- Differences in colour reproduction between computer screens and the final printed product.
- Manufacturing tolerances relating to dimensions, thickness and materials.
- Differences in the appearance of images, illustrations and printing examples.
- Changes to materials, production techniques or product specifications.

The main product characteristics, including dimensions, materials, printing and quantities, are specified for each product or order.

The specific product specifications and agreements made in relation to an order take precedence over general images or illustrative product presentations displayed on the website.

Where applicable, any deviations will be assessed against the agreed specifications, applicable tolerances and statutory requirements.

3. Printing, Colour Reproduction and Print Results

3.1 Colour Reproduction

Colours displayed on a computer screen may differ from the final printed result on a beer mat.

This may be caused by, among other factors:

- Differences in screen settings.
- The type of paper used and the colour of the material.
- The printing technique applied.
- The properties of inks and materials.
- Differences between digital colour representation and printed colours.

A digital representation on the website cannot therefore automatically be regarded as an exact representation of the final printed result.

Where colour-critical production is required, additional arrangements may be made regarding colour references, proof prints and approval procedures.

3.2 Customer-Supplied Files

The customer is responsible for supplying all required files, images, logos, text and other materials correctly and on time.

The customer warrants that:

1. The files supplied are suitable for the agreed purpose, insofar as this responsibility rests with the customer.
2. The content supplied does not infringe the intellectual property rights of third parties.
3. The customer holds all necessary rights and permissions to use the materials supplied.

Dingsbeermats.com may carry out technical checks on submitted files and, where necessary, provide feedback regarding potential production issues.

However, a technical check does not automatically mean that all aspects of a file relating to its content, legality or copyright have been checked or approved.

3.3 Proofs and Approval

Where a printed proof or digital proof is offered, the customer will be informed of the procedure for reviewing and approving it.

The scope of the proof, any limitations relating to digital colour reproduction and the consequences of approval will be specified in the order, quotation or applicable terms and conditions.

4. Customer-Supplied Designs, Images and Intellectual Property

The customer remains responsible for ensuring that all designs, images, logos, text and other content supplied by them comply with applicable laws and regulations.

To the extent necessary for the performance of the agreement, the customer grants Dingsbeermats.com permission to use, reproduce and process these materials for the purposes of the agreed production and delivery.

The customer warrants that such use does not infringe the rights of third parties.

If a third party makes a claim concerning rights associated with materials supplied by the customer, Dingsbeermats.com may request that the customer provide the necessary supporting documentation or permissions.

This provision does not affect statutory liability rules or any further arrangements set out in the agreement.

Intellectual Property Rights of the Online Shop

All rights relating to the content of this online shop, including text, images, designs, logos, software and other materials, belong to Dingsbeermats.com or its licensors, unless otherwise stated.

Without prior written permission, it is prohibited to reproduce, publish, modify or commercially exploit any part of this content, except where permitted by law.

5. Prices, Offers and Obvious Errors

We take great care in preparing our prices, offers and product information.

Nevertheless, technical errors, administrative errors or obvious data-entry mistakes may occur.

In the event of an obvious error, such as a clearly incorrect price or an unintentionally inaccurate product description, we reserve the right to correct the error and inform the customer accordingly.

The legal consequences of errors, price changes and offers will be determined in accordance with applicable legislation and contractual agreements.

For consumers, prices and additional costs will be displayed in accordance with statutory requirements.

Changes to prices or product information will not affect an agreement that has already been legally concluded, unless otherwise provided by law or by the agreement itself.

6. Orders, Production and Delivery

The delivery times and production information stated on the website are based on the information available at the time.

Actual delivery times may depend on factors including:

- The completeness and accuracy of the order.
- The timely submission and approval of files.
- The availability of materials.
- The selected production specifications.
- Production capacity and transport arrangements.

Additional conditions may apply to customised products regarding the commencement of production, approval of printing proofs and delivery.

The precise arrangements concerning order acceptance, delivery times, force majeure and any delays are set out in the applicable terms and conditions or the individual agreement.

The online shop does not guarantee that every product or product variation will be available at all times.

7. Production Tolerances and Quantities

During the production of printed beer mats, minor variations in dimensions, thickness, printing and quantities may occur, depending on the materials and production techniques used.

Where relevant, permitted tolerances will be specified in advance in the product specifications, quotation or additional production agreements.

Any deviation will be assessed on the basis of the agreed product specifications and applicable statutory and contractual standards.

A deviation does not automatically constitute a failure to fulfil contractual obligations. This depends on the nature, extent and circumstances of the deviation.

8. Liability

Dingsbeermats.com endeavours to maintain the website and the information provided on it with due care and reliability.

To the extent permitted by law, Dingsbeermats.com shall not be liable for damage or loss arising solely from the use of general information provided on the website, provided that such damage or loss does not result from circumstances for which liability cannot legally be excluded or limited.

This limitation does not apply to liability that cannot be excluded or restricted under mandatory law.

For damage or loss relating to a specific order, production process or delivery, the provisions of the agreement and the applicable terms and conditions shall apply, subject to statutory limitations.

No limitation of liability contained in this disclaimer may, in itself, exclude statutory consumer rights or other rights protected by mandatory law.

The most recent version will be published on this page.
